

Go Native!

Pearly Everlasting

Anaphalis margaritacea

Pearly everlasting is an easy to care for native perennial that thrives in hot, sunny spots – particularly disturbed sites. It produces slender green foliage and papery white woolly flowers with yellow centres that bloom from early summer to fall.

Appearance is quite variable depending on the site – this plant can be anywhere from 20-90 cm tall with leaves ranging in length from 2-15 cm long and 0.5 – 2 cm wide.

This plant is drought tolerant, bear smart and pollinator friendly. The Painted Lady Butterfly is quite fond of pearly everlasting.